Fund Manager Comment

Feb'24 was a positive month for fixed income with rates ending lower during the month. However, the month ended with a weaker sentiment, especially with Tariff uncertainty that would lead to higher inflation together with weaker growth. Data points especially indicating weaker growth going forward did increase bets on rate cut for 2025 towards three from a single rate cut at the beginning of the year.

During February, the US-10-year Treasury yield dropped to from 4.20% from 4.53% with rate cut bets increasing over the month. The drop in retail sales was a key catalyst showing some upcoming uncertainties. However, inflation indications are yet to be tamed and have partnered with growth concerns to complicate life of fed officials. We have to see how the uncertainties intensify future US outlook to see any further increase in rate cut expectations for 2025.

During the month, Brent ended lower at c. USD 73 from c. USD 77 in line with reduced global demand and an expected increase in supply. Regional IG and HY space remain favorable to their global counterparts and will continue attracting flows from yield-seeking investors.

QNB MENA Debt Fund, after being launched in 2017, has paid 15 coupons. We remain focused on taking advantage of the opportunistic trades apparent in the market. The fund manager has gradually increased the fund's duration to position the fund to an eventual steeper yield curve. Assets of the Fund are satisfactorily deployed as per the investment guidelines and also in line with the selected benchmark, which the fund intends to outperform in the longer run.
